

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX eased 0.6% due to strong selling after five-day gain

The VN-INDEX closed down 0.6% after briefly visiting the one-month high territory on Thursday as investors took profit in Financials, Materials and IT stocks following the market's five straight gains. After global stock markets dropped the previous night on concerns over economic recovery and fresh COVID-19 infection cases in several countries, Vietnam's stock market began trading cautiously, with the index hovering around the reference level. SAB (+0.5%) extended its supportive role, along with several market pillars, including VIC (+0.4%) and LGC (+6.8%). But the index quickly fell to its intraday low of 867.6pts (-1.0%) in the afternoon session as strong selling emerged against VHM (-1.7%), VCB (-1.1%) and TCB (-2.4%). The selling pressure sent the VN-INDEX down to close at 871.2pts (-0.6%), giving up the five-session gaining streak, and the HNX-INDEX also lost 0.4% to end at 115.7pts.

Only Industrials (+0.2%) gained, while Materials (-0.9%), Financials (-0.9%) and IT (-0.8%) lost ground. Top index movers included VIC (+0.4%), LGC (+6.8%), SAB (+0.5%), GEX (+4.7%) and GVR (+0.4%). Top index laggards consisted of VHM (-1.7%), VCB (-1.1%), TCB (-2.4%), GAS (-1.2%) and VRE (-1.8%). Top three major put-through transactions were FPT with 4.3m shares (VND222.7bn), TCB with 6.4m shares (VND134.1bn) and VNM with 1m shares (VND124bn).

Foreigners net sold on HOSE to the amount of VND160.9bn, while net bought on HNX to the amount of VND3.6bn. They mainly bought FPT (VND222.7bn), VNM (VND146.3bn) and HPG (VND97.1bn); and mainly sold FPT (VND222.7bn), VNM (VND153.5bn) and HPG (VND148.8bn).

Market News

Oil heading for weekly drop with virus surge clouding outlook

Oil in New York is heading for a weekly decline as surging coronavirus cases raised fresh concerns about demand, while the market is continuing to grapple with ample supply. Futures slipped below US$39/barrel and are down 4.4% so far this week. Surging infections across major economies is leading to the tightening of restrictions to curb the outbreak, with the virus showing no signs of abating. Meanwhile, U.S. crude stockpiles are near record highs and tankers that have been storing much of the world's oil as demand cratered are starting to offload cargoes. Oil's rally from its plunge below zero in April has stalled, with volatility near the lowest level since February after a tumultuous few months sparked by virus-driven demand destruction. Historic output cuts from OPEC and its allies are set to ease next month and the market will be looking for any supply response from producers as curbs are relaxed. (Bloomberg)

Construction Ministry's proposal on low-cost apartments heats up Vietnam's market.

The Ministry of Construction (MOC) has proposed offering preferences to real estate firms that develop low-cost housing with the selling price of no more than VND20 million per square meter. The ministry is drafting a resolution on encouraging the development of commercial low-cost housing projects. The draft is scheduled to be submitted to the government for approval in Q3. The apartments mentioned by MOC are closed apartments with usable area of 70m<sup>2</sup> and selling prices of no more than VND20m/m<sup>2</sup>. This means that the value of one apartment would not be higher than VND1.5bn, including VAT. To encourage investors to develop low-cost apartments, MOC has designed a series of incentives. Both project developers and buyers may be allowed to borrow money at preferential interest rates of 7-8% annum. The proposal has stirred controversy. Some experts said it is necessary to encourage real estate developers to invest in low-cost housing products because the demand for accommodations is very high from low income earners. Others doubt the feasibility of the plan. A real estate developer in Hanoi said with the ceiling price of VND20 million per square meter, many businesses would find it feasible to make investments if they can get support in finance and policies. Savills Vietnam commented that MOC's proposal is part of an effort to seek effective solutions to encourage the development of commercial low-cost housing products. The move reflects positive reform in the state's policies to help the real estate sector recover after the pandemic ends. The Ho Chi Minh City Real Estate Association (HOREA) has recently made several proposals on tax and land incentives to encourage investors to develop low-cost products. HOREA believes that the government should lower by 50% rent for the land area to be used by low-cost projects, and allow businesses to delay the land-use fee payment for no more than 24 months after the land is allocated. The association also proposed cutting VAT and corporate income taxes for the projects by 50%. (Vietnamnet.vn)
