

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX rebounded on support from Real Estate, Financials large caps

The VN-INDEX climbed for the first time in four sessions, edging up 0.2%, while the HNX-INDEX lost 0.2%. Following the strong increase of the U.S. stock market the previous night as earnings season kicks off, with the Dow Jones Industrial Average Index gaining 556.8pts (+2.1%), the VN-INDEX opened optimistically and quickly rose to its intraday peak of 876.7pts (+1.0%). Specifically, VHM became the largest supporter of the index, jumping 0.7% to VND81,100 and alone adding 0.6pts to the index. Other Real Estate large caps also recorded gains, including VRE (+1.1%) and KDH (+1.2%). Furthermore, some market pillars from Financials and Consumer Staples joined the rally and further strengthened the existing upward momentum, led by VCB (+0.6%), TCB (+2.5%) and VNM (+0.7%). However, in the afternoon session, profit taking activities emerged and dominated on other large caps, thus narrowing the market's gain. Several blue chips lost ground and eroded the overall gain, including VIC (-0.9%), SAB (-1.8%) and HNG (-6.5%). As a result, the VN-INDEX edged up 0.2% to end at 869.9pts, the first rise after three consecutive falls, while the HNX-INDEX ended down at 115.9pts (-0.2%).

Consumer Discretionary (+1.6%), Financials (+0.7%) and Industrials (+0.2%) rose, while Consumer Staples (-0.5%) and Utilities (-0.2%) lost ground. Top index movers included VHM (+0.7%), VCB (+0.6%), TCB (+2.5%), VNM (+0.7%) and MWG (+2.0%). Top index laggards consisted of VIC (-0.9%), SAB (-1.8%), HNG (-6.5%), MSN (-0.5%) and HAG (-4.9%). Top three major put-through transactions were NVL with 3.6m shares (VND219.4bn), VCI with 6m shares (VND145bn), and VNM with 0.8m shares (VND89.7bn).

Oil edges higher on U.S stockpiles build and OPEC+ compliance

Oil edged higher after a report pointed to a drop in U.S. crude stockpiles and on signs that additional supply from OPEC+ next month won't be as much as previously anticipated. Futures in New York traded near US$40.5 a barrel after closing up 0.5% on Tuesday. The American Petroleum Institute reported that U.S. inventories fell by 8.32m barrels last week, according to people familiar with the data. That would be the largest drawdown since December if confirmed by official figures due Wednesday, suggesting a supply glut is easing. OPEC+ is seeking compensatory production cuts in August and September from members that have missed targets in previous months, according to delegates. The proposal, which may temper the impact of the planned supply resumption, will be discussed Wednesday by the group's ministerial monitoring committee. (Bloomberg)

Vietnam's electronics exports face difficulties due to COVID-19

The electronics industry in the last six months of the year is forecast to be still greatly affected by the COVID-19 pandemic, which reduces demand in the US and European markets. A Ministry of Industry and Trade report on industrial and commercial production in the first half showed that the production index of electronics and computers in the period increased 9.8% over the same period last year. In detail, the export value of computers, electronic products and spare parts increased 24.2% to US$19.28bn; mobile phones and components reached about US$21.5bn, down 8.4%. The first six months have passed with a relatively high growth in production and exports, but the Ministry of Industry and Trade is still concerned that the situation in the second half of 2020 may not be very satisfactory. The electronics industry may still suffer from serious effects due to the pandemic. In particular, Samsung's global sales and output are forecasted to decline due to the overall impact of the pandemic. Samsung Vietnam is expected to reduce its export target to about US$45.5bn this year. However, the Ministry said that Vietnam's pandemic control has been highly appreciated by the international community. This is considered an important driving force to attract more foreign investment into the country after the pandemic. In addition, transnational corporations are considering shifting investment, so this is a great opportunity for Vietnam to catch this wave of investment. (Vietnamnet.vn)
