

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX in steepest fall since late Mar from multi-week high

The VN-INDEX fell 3.6%, the biggest drop in over 10 weeks, as most large caps suffered from strong selling pressure that emerged after the index reached a multi-week high in the previous session. Global stock markets fell strongly the previous night in reaction to FED's negative view on the prospect of the U.S. economy, which currently faced both the COVID-19 pandemic and ongoing riots. The VN-INDEX opened cautiously and most stocks began in the red before a brief rebound. As the afternoon session started, selling pressure spread across the market and Vietnam's main stock index lost ground again. Many Banking stocks made steep falls, among which BID closed at the floor price with a huge supply, followed by CTG (-6.9%), VCB (-1.8%) and TCB (-4.3%). Oil & Gas and Retails stocks joined to extend the slide, with GAS, PLX and MWG closing at the floor price. Market pillars failed to provide any significant support. Finally, the VN-INDEX closed down 3.6%, the biggest fall since 30 Mar when it lost 4.9%, at 867.4pts, which was the lowest level since the 29 May close of 864.5pts. In Hanoi the HNX-INDEX also declined to 116.1pts (-3.8%).

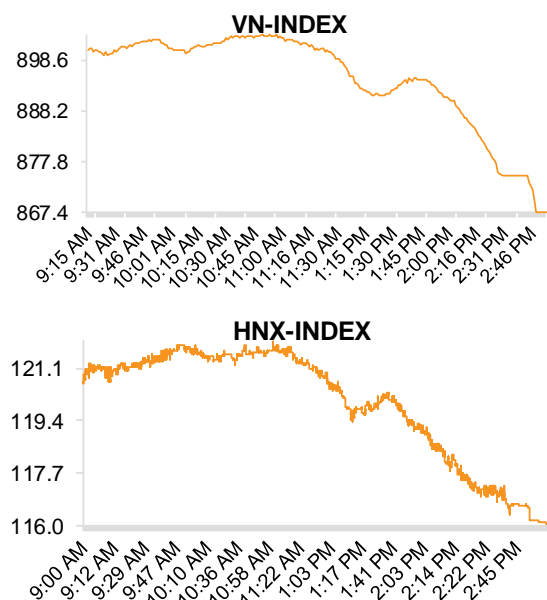

All sectors lost ground, led by Energy (-6.8%), IT (-5.8%) and Utilities (-5.7%). Top index movers included BIC (+5.2%), PGI (+6.1%), VCF (+1.4%), HPX (+1.1%) and HQC (+6.9%). Top index laggards consisted of BID (-6.9%), GAS (-6.9%), VIC (-2.7%), CTG (-6.9%) and VCB (-1.8%). Top three major put-through transactions were VCB with 2.6m shares (VND230.7bn), TDP with 7.9m shares (VND157.5bn) and FUEVFVND with 11m shares (VND135.7bn).

Foreigners net bought on HOSE to the amount of VND124.2bn, while net sold on HNX to the amount of VND11.9bn. They mainly bought VHM (VND195.4bn), FUSSVFD (VND103.7bn) and VCB (VND67.3bn); and mainly sold KBC (VND54bn), VRE (VND32.6bn) and VJC (VND18.5bn).

Oil slips below US$39 after U.S. crude stockpiles expand to record

Oil declined in New York as an increase in American crude stockpiles to a record high raised fresh concerns about excess supply, while the Federal Reserve forecast a long road to recovery for the U.S. economy. Futures lost 3.2% to drop below US$39/barrel, erasing all of the gains from the previous session. U.S. crude inventories unexpectedly rose last week, even as oil production fell, while gasoline stockpiles also saw a surprise expansion. Fed Chairman Jerome Powell said the pandemic could inflict longer-lasting damage on the economy and the central bank signaled it would keep rates near zero possibly for years to come. Global production cuts and the easing of lockdowns in some countries has pushed prices higher after oil plunged below zero in April. However, the recovery is expected to be fragile and uneven, and there are concerns U.S. producers may pump more with crude above US$30/barrel, adding to a glut. (Bloomberg)

Vietnamese agricultural products given greater opportunity to enter Europe.

The EU-Vietnam Free Trade Agreement (EVFTA) will not only help raise export turnover but also increase the competitiveness of Vietnamese fruit and vegetables and fisheries products in the European market. The EVFTA opens the door to Vietnam's agriculture and fisheries products. Vinamex, an import and export company in Belgium, has a solid reputation in this rather difficult market, especially in regard to rice and cashew nuts. Its warehouse in Brussels regularly houses agricultural products imported from Vietnam. Vietnamese rice imported by Vinamex is sold at the Carrefour supermarket in Brussels. Fragrant rice has been consumed in large quantities in Europe for a number of years, but not much has been Vietnamese. Rice from Vietnam has been subject to a relatively high import tax of 5% to 45%, depending on the variety. Some EU countries even impose an import tax on Vietnamese rice of up to 100% or higher. Under the EVFTA, the tax rate on rice is 0%, and if Vietnam makes good use of the opportunity to export its 80,000-tonne quota, then export turnover could quadruple from the present figure. Agriculture and fisheries stand to gain a great deal as soon as the EVFTA takes effect. EU countries are, however, known for technical barriers that "discourage" foreign importers hoping to dominate the market. Many other agricultural products will also benefit from the EVFTA. Grapefruit, coconut, dragon fruit, and passionfruit are already quite popular among European consumers. (Vietnamnet.vn)
