

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX edged up 0.3% on strong support from Consumer Discretionary large caps

The VN-INDEX climbed 0.3% to end in its third consecutive rise on extended support from Consumer Discretionary stocks, while the HNX-INDEX lost 0.5%. Vietnam's main stock index began the session strongly with most stocks advancing. The rally was mainly propelled by Consumer Discretionary stocks, including MSN (+2.3%) and VNM (+0.4%). Other large caps joined the advance and lifted the index further to its intraday high of 872.9pts, led by VHM (+2.4%), GAS (+0.7%) and TCB (+1.2%). However, the VN-INDEX lost steam in the afternoon session due to profit taking. Several blue chips lost ground and eroded the overall gain, including VIC (-0.4%), VJC (-0.9%), VRE (-0.7%), BID (-0.4%) and VPB (-0.4%). But despite the selling pressure, the VN-INDEX successfully edged up 0.3% to close at 871.3pts. On the contrary, the HNX-INDEX fell 0.6% to end at 114.7pts, due in part to the falls of SHB (-1.4%) and ACB (-1.2%).

Consumer Discretionary (+1.0%), Utilities (+0.8%) and Real Estate (+0.6%) rose, while only Financials (-0.1%) lost ground. Top index movers included VHM (+2.4%), MSN (+2.3%), GAS (+0.7%), TCB (+1.2%) and VNM (+0.4%). Top index laggards consisted of VIC (-0.4%), BID (-0.4%), GVR (-1.2%), VJC (-0.9%) and HVN (-1.3%). Top three major put-through transactions were VPB with 4.1m shares (VND89.1bn), SAB with 0.3m shares (VND49.4bn), and HNX30INDEX with 2.5m shares (VND39bn).

Foreigners net sold on HOSE to the amount of VND21.7bn, and also net sold on HNX to the amount of VND0.7bn. They mainly bought VCB (VND90.1bn), VIC (VND60.4bn) and VHM (VND58.2bn); and mainly sold VCB (VND83.1bn), VNM (VND54.4bn) and SAB (VND47.6bn).

Asian buyers turn to U.S. oil amid uncertain flows from OPEC

As the OPEC+ alliance sticks to its guns in trying to curb oil output to shore up prices, Asian buyers are increasingly looking to the U.S. for a cheaper source of supply. Refiners in the top crude-importing region have been forced to accept big reductions in their regular contracted volumes from producers including Saudi Arabia and Iraq in the past couple of months. They've also been taken aback by sharp swings in official selling prices. The lower volumes and pricing uncertainty is encouraging Asian processors to take a closer look at American crudes, particularly as freight rates across the Pacific have fallen over the last couple of months. Staff at four Asian processors who buy and sell crude said they were considering purchasing U.S. oil, declining to be named because the information is confidential. Saudi Arabia and other OPEC members have long-standing reputations as reliable suppliers to Asia, but the price war followed quickly by massive output cuts have unsettled buyers in the region. While these traditional suppliers are unlikely to be overtaken by the U.S. anytime soon, the instability has created an opening for American producers. (Bloomberg)

COVID-19 affects Vietnamese businesses in benefiting from EVFTA

Although the Europe-Vietnam Free Trade Agreement (EVFTA) is great news for Vietnamese businesses, they should not expect too much as the COVID-19 pandemic is still raging in Europe. This statement was made by Deputy Minister of Industry and Trade Do Thang Hai at a recent seminar on the EVFTA in Hanoi. He also said that the ministry had built a detailed scenario for each industry and commodity in the context of economies affected by COVID-19. Vu Tien Loc, VCCI chairman, said that when the world market demand declines, obstacles would be huge for Vietnamese businesses to be able to sell products and goods. Besides, many global supply chains had not yet been put back into operation, which affects Vietnamese businesses, he said. National Assembly deputies officially ratified the EVFTA and the Europe-Vietnam Investment Protection Agreement (EVIPA) this month. The two agreements are expected to give Vietnamese companies better access to European markets and help Vietnam strengthen its important political and economic position in the Southeast Asian and Asia-Pacific regions, heightening the nation's status in ASEAN and other international organisations.
