

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX rose to one-week high on strong support from VCB, BID

The VN-INDEX recouped 3.9pts to close at one-week high thanks mainly to a strong push by VCB and BID, while the HNX-INDEX gained 1.0pts as SHB extended gains. The U.S. stock market jumped 4% the previous night after former Vice President Joe Biden emerged as the frontrunner of the Democratic Party's presidential race. Following this advance, Vietnam's stock market began optimistically, with the VN-INDEX climbing gradually to its intraday high of 898.4pts (+1.0%). Specifically, VCB gained VND1,400 (+1.7%) to touch VND83,100 and alone added 1.5pts to the index, followed by smaller Banking tickers such as BID (+1.1%) and VPB (+2.6%). Consumer Staples and Aviation stocks joined the rally and further strengthened the upward momentum, led by MSN (+3.9%), HVN (+6.4%) and VJC (+1.4%). On the downside, some blue chips lost ground under strong selling pressure. Notably, CTG and TCB both declined by 1.1%, followed by FPT (-1.6%) and STB (-2.4%). However, the laggards were surpassed by the bullish large caps. As a result, the VN-INDEX gained 0.4% to end at 893.3pts, the highest level since 27 Feb when it closed at 898.4pts, and the HNX-INDEX also jumped 0.9% to land at 115.0pts.

Health Care (+2.0%), Industrials (+1.1%) and Financials (+0.6%) rose while IT (-1.5%) and Consumer Discretionary (-0.3%) dropped. Top index movers included VCB (+1.7%), MSN (+3.9%), HVN (+6.4%), BID (+1.1%) and VPB (+2.6%). Top index laggards consisted of CTG (-1.1%), TCB (-1.1%), FPT (-1.6%), STB (-2.4%) and VNM (-0.3%). Top three major put-through transactions were VPB with 3.2m shares (VND87.2bn), GTN with 5.2m shares (VND82.9bn) and CAV with 1.0m shares (VND55.6bn)

Foreigners net sold on HOSE to the amount of VND8.6bn, and also net sold on HNX to the amount of VND303.4bn. They mainly bought VNM (VND57.2bn), SCS (VND54.2bn) and VPB (VND51.8bn); and mainly sold VNM (VND59.7bn), SCS (VND54.8bn) and VPB (VND51.8bn).

U.S. stimulus boosts oil while divided OPEC+ debates deeper cuts. Oil resumed gains as the U.S. passed an emergency spending bill to combat the impact of the coronavirus, while the two biggest members of the OPEC+ coalition remain divided over deeper output cuts. Congress on Wednesday authorized nearly US$8bn in spending to fund the American government's response to the deadly outbreak, spurring a rally in U.S. stocks that extended into Asia. Russia and Saudi Arabia are split over the need for further curbs, with the kingdom pushing for a reduction of 1.5m barrels a day and Russia in favor of maintaining supply at current levels. Infrastructure investors to hit full throttle in Vietnam. Investors are seeing big opportunities to take part in Vietnam's infrastructure developments as the government has announced plans to boost the construction of many mega infrastructure projects in tandem with streamlining policies to make it more attractive. During a recent meeting, Prime Minister Nguyen Xuan Phuc said that the construction of major infrastructure projects such as North-South Expressway, Long Thanh International Airport and a number of highways nationwide, as well as facilities in the power, water, traffic, and urban development sectors will be sped up this year. A strong private sector involvement is expected in these projects, the PM said. According to Datuk Abdul Aziz Kadir, chairman of network solutions provider Confexhub Group, in fact, though Vietnam has been known to be one of the nations with the fastest growing GDP in the world, it faces issues in both the quality and quantity of its infrastructure, which is far below the country's needs. Due to the big infrastructure needs, Vietnam has a strong project pipeline in roads, rails, bridges, public service infrastructure, urban transportation, and of course, the infrastructure for its ports and special economic zones, Kadir said. Global Infrastructure Hub estimated that the country needs to invest US$110bn between 2021 and 2025 for infrastructure. Meanwhile, conventional funding sources from the state budget and official development assistance from bilateral and multilateral donors as well as government bonds can't afford the hefty costs. The country, therefore, will have to find other sources to fill the funding shortfall, which is projected at US$22bn in the next five years. Experts said that to meet Vietnam's capital demand for infrastructure development, the country will need to leverage on domestic and international capital markets and attract foreign direct investment. Increasingly, they said, the government has also sought privatization and divestment as a means to manage to the challenges of infrastructure financing. "The Vietnamese government is putting in great efforts to draw investment from the foreign private sector, to attract not only equity but also specialized technical knowledge into these projects. Ongoing regulatory reforms and the privatization of state-owned enterprises encourage the private sector to maintain and increase their existing level of investment in infrastructure in the country," Kadir said.
