The VN-INDEX edged up 0.4% on extended support from Financials and Real Estate large caps, and the HNX-INDEX also gained 0.2%. VCB (+0.8%) of Financials sector and Real Estate's VHM (+2.1%) and VRE (+2.2%), which gave strong support to the index's rebound on Thursday, were joined by GAS (+0.7%) and SAB (+0.7%) to help fuel the market's advance. Buying force drove the VN-INDEX to its intraday high of 867pts (+0.6%) in the afternoon session. However, the rise was curbed partly by selling pressure in several market pillars, including BID (-1.5%), PLX (-1.4%), NVL (-1.1%) and TCB (-1.0%). U.S.-China anxiety has oil trimming biggest monthly gain ever: Oil trimmed its biggest monthly advance on record as crude was swept up in the broader negative sentiment around deteriorating U.S.-China relations, even as historic supply cuts tighten the market. While futures in New York edged lower to trade near US$33 a barrel, crude is still set for the biggest monthly gain in data going back almost four decades. The oil market has started to recover from a virus-led demand crash after OPEC+ began reducing output, but investors will be watching for any change when the coalition meets in early June after Russia signaled it would scale back curbs in line with the deal. A return of oil consumption to pre-virus levels is likely to be long and uncertain, but refiners in China, India and South Korea are buying more crude cargoes, and demand for gasoline is climbing as people return to work. In the U.S., stockpiles posted a surprise increase last week, while the four-week average of gasoline supplied to the market continued to climb as parts of the country emerged from lockdowns. U.S. crude stockpiles rose by 7.93m barrels last week, according to the Energy Information Administration, compared with a Bloomberg survey forecast for a 1.91m barrel drop. Inventories at the key storage hub of Cushing, Oklahoma, fell for a third week to the lowest since early April. While Abu Dhabi National Oil Co. told buyers it would reduce output in line with the OPEC+ deal, the producer group is set to meet June 9-10 to discuss if they should extend their record production cuts, or start tapering them. Russian President Vladimir Putin and Saudi Arabian Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman this week reiterated their cooperation. (Bloomberg)

Revised Vietnam's GDP goals to buttress growth. The aftermath of the health crisis has prompted Vietnam to consider adjusting its economic growth target, with the recommendation that providing practical support for the private sector will help the economy achieve higher growth and create more jobs. It may be the first time that the National Assembly (NA) must implement an unheard-of action – to revise the economy's growth target down amid the current pandemic, affecting all of Vietnam's trade and investment partners and the economy's internal strength. According to a government report delivered to the NA, it is crucial to adjust the goals for 2020 which is suitable to the objective reality. The goals to be altered would include GDP, which should increase 4.5% on-year, which if the pandemic is controlled better in the world and the global market recovers stronger, is expected to climb 5.4% on-year. PM Phuc said that difficulties are being seen in business and production in all sectors and enterprises in the economy. In the first four months, the number of newly-established enterprises decreased 13.3% on-year, while the number of those halting operations increased strongly. Notably, demand for labour has seriously dropped. (Vietnamnet.vn)
