

Market commentary: The VN-INDEX stood nearly flat, with large caps in divergence

The VN-INDEX stood almost unchanged, while the HNX-INDEX inched up 0.2%. The VN-INDEX kicked off cautiously and quickly dropped to its intraday low of 968.0pts (-0.2%) as some blue chips faced aggressive selling pressure and lost ground. However, the VN-INDEX recovered in the afternoon session as several blue chips advanced. VRE was the largest supporter, rising 2.8% to add 0.7pts to the index, thanks to strong net buying from foreign investors. The momentum was boosted by some large caps from Real Estate and Aviation sectors, such as VHM (+0.3%) and HVN (+1.5%). At the end of the trading day, the VN-INDEX stayed flat at 970.8pts, with a tiny gain of 0.4pts, while the HNX-INDEX ended up at 102.5pts (+0.2%).

Market News

Oil set for fourth weekly advance ahead of key OPEC and meeting. Oil is heading for a fourth weekly gain, the longest winning streak since April, before a key OPEC and meeting next week that will set the path for future production cuts. Futures were steady near $58 a barrel in New York as the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday reduced trading volumes. Saudi Arabia is likely to signal at the Vienna gathering that it's no longer willing to compensate for the non-compliance of other members, according to people familiar with the kingdom's thinking. OPEC and its allies are expected to extend the current supply pact, rather than deepen reductions, according to a Bloomberg survey. (Bloomberg)

CPTPP creates opportunities for foreign investors in Vietnam's aviation sector. As a member of WTO and EVFTA, Vietnam has yet to permit foreign investors to offer air transport services, though aviation services and projects have been opened for investment since the signing of Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP). Under the CPTPP, Vietnam will first permit foreign investment in the aviation sector, including local and international air services, through capital contributions or stake acquisitions. The investment must meet certain requirements, including a 30% cap on foreign ownership in an airline. Further, the largest shareholder in an airline must be a Vietnamese individual or organization, two-thirds of the board members of a foreigninvested carrier must be Vietnamese nationals and the general director and legal representative of the carrier must be Vietnamese nationals. Speaking at a seminar titled "Vietnam Distribution, Ecommerce, Logistics sectors: Opportunities and Challenges from the CPTPP" on November 25, Nguyen Thi Thu Trang, director of the WTO Center and Integration, under the Vietnam Chamber of Commerce and Industry, noted that all air services, including cargo and passenger transport activities, will be permitted under the agreement. The Vietnamese aviation market is considered to have great potential, with a growth rate of 10% per year. According to the International Air Transport Association (IATA), Vietnam is the world's fifth-fastest growing aviation market and is forecast to handle 150m passengers by 2035. Up to 72 international airlines and five Vietnamese carriers are operating flights on 200 international routes from 25 countries and territories to eight sites in Vietnam: Hanoi, Da Nang, Ho Chi Minh City, Nha Trang, Phu Quoc, Can Tho, Hai Phong and Da Lat. Currently, Vietnam's carriers are operating a combined 48 domestic air routes linked to 22 airports. Vietnam Airlines operates 33 domestic and international air routes, while Vietjet has 35 air routes connecting major cities in Vietnam and international destinations, Jetstar Pacific offers 23 domestic and international air routes and Bamboo Airways and Vietnam Air Services Company or Vasco (a subsidiary of Vietnam Airlines) fly on 24 and nine domestic and international air routes, respectively. The local aviation market is expected to get busier in the coming months as new brands rush to enter the sector. Procedures and preparations to establish Vietravel Airlines, Vinpearl Air, Vietstar Airlines and Thien Minh are underway. The higher the demand is, the more opportunities for development the aviation sector will have. Trang said, adding that as a result, the strong growth will drive up the economy. However, Trang voiced concern over the severe overload facing the aviation infrastructure, noting that poor infrastructure and complicated regulations have hindered air services from developing on par with their potential.
